Donations needed!

The Cleveland Bird Calendar is 98 years old this year, and up to now, the majority of the funding to publish it has come from the generous donations of our members and friends. KBC gratefully thanks you for your past support. The subscription cost alone does not cover the cost of publication, and we do not collect enough in membership dues to run the club and support the Bird Calendar without going in the red. We need your support now to help us keep this publication going. The quarterly expense for publishing an issue is $330.00. Please consider sponsoring an issue or part of an issue with your tax-deductible donation.

Send your tax deductible donation to either organization:
