

Black Swamp Bird Observatory (BSBO) is thrilled to offer a weekend birding event...

Spring Warbler Identification Workshop with Kenn Kaufman Friday & Saturday May 4th & 5th, 2007

Black Swamp Bird Observatory Nature Center located just inside the entrance to Crane Creek State Park

BSBO is proud to offer this amazing opportunity to learn from the master! World renowned birding expert, Kenn Kaufman, takes us step by step through the process of identifying these gems of spring.

We begin Friday evening with a 2 hour identification workshop from 7:00 - 9:00 PM. This illustrated lecture will not simply review field marks listed in all the field guides. Instead, we will focus on how to look at warblers in order to really understand their identification. We will discuss the different groups of warblers, behavioral clues, how to understand patterns of warbler wings, tails, and other plumage areas, how to understand the variation within each species, how to learn songs and different kinds of call notes, and strategies for learning and remembering the main field marks for all warblers. On Saturday we will reconvene at BSBO at 7:30 AM and Kenn will take us into the field to put our new skills to work at the world famous Magee Marsh boardwalk.

Space is limited to assure a quality experience, so please register early! Workshop fee is $25.00 for BSBO members and $35.00 for nonmembers. BSBO members may bring one guest at the $25.00 members' price.
